

Which students are included in the NCCD?

A student is included in the NCCD when all of the following apply.

1. The student meets the definition of a person with disability as defined under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992.
2. The functional impact of the student's disability results in the school actively addressing their individual education needs by providing reasonable adjustments.
3. There is evidence at the school that the student has been provided with adjustment/s for a minimum period of 10 weeks of school education (excluding school holiday periods) in the 12 months preceding the NCCD reference date.

Ongoing

The definition of 'long term' for this purpose is over a minimum period of 10 weeks of school education (excluding school holiday periods), in the 12 months preceding the NCCD.

The minimum 10-week period does not need to be consecutive. It can be cumulative and split across school terms in the 12 months preceding the NCCD reference date, which is typically in the first week of August each year.

If a student is participating in a school-based activity during the school holidays (eg camp) where the school is providing adjustments, then this time can be included in the 10 weeks.

Note: The student also needs to be counted in the school's census in order to be included in the NCCD.
